Minutes

Commissioner Reckhow moved, seconded by Commissioner Howerton to approve the January 22, 2018 Regular Session minutes.

The motion carried unanimously.

Ceremonial Items

Recognition that Durham County Library and Friends of the Durham Library Received the Service Innovation Award and Library Friend of the Year Award from the North Carolina Public Library Directors Association

Tammy Baggett, Library Director, shared the significance of the award and highlighted the outreach methods, specifically the book mobile stops, the Liberty Housing Authority and other organizations in the community. She discussed the Downtown Library without Walls Initiative and introduced the library staff present and those representing the Friends of the Durham Library.

Carol Owen, Board President, Friends of the Durham Library, stated they were honored to be recognized and were proud to continue to support the library mission.

Annie Mountcastle, Grant Writer for the Durham County Library and Liaison to the Friends, thanked the Friends for all the work they do every day to help raise funds through book sales. She added those funds provide staff professional development opportunities and it inspired innovation for more community funded programs.

Faith Burns, Interim Manager, thanked the Board for the recognition. She commented on the tutoring program offered at the MakerLab and highlighted the 40 plus students currently enrolled. Ms. Burns continued to say the work the Board allowed the staff to do was greatly appreciated throughout the community. Commissioner Reckhow asked for clarification on the tutoring program. Ms. Burns responded the tutoring program was very popular prior to the closing of the Main Library so they decided to move it to the MakerLab. She added students in grades PreK – six (6) were partnered with Duke University students on Mondays and Wednesdays for an hour.

Chair Jacobs stated it was an honor to have the North Carolina Association of Libraries recognize library staff and the Friends. She added this showed great partnerships with the Friends and the Library Foundation.

Commissioner Reckhow stated both awards were well deserved. She heard from citizens about their concern of the closing of the Main Library and the decrease in services offered. Commissioner Reckhow applauded the staff for recognizing the gap and providing a rich array of services without delay.

Consent Agenda

Chair Jacobs asked the Board if they requested to comment or pull any item from the Consent Agenda.
