

Should churches close for COVID-19?

---

Church and other faith-based organization services that draw 100 or more visitors are currently banned in North Carolina. All organizations are strongly encouraged to consider alternatives to mass gatherings to support their congregations' social and spiritual well-being. Consider options like connecting by phone, online video streaming, and using other technologies that support social distancing.

Public Health

dcopublichealth.org

March 22, 2020